Art Unit: 3724

1. The amendment filed 06 March 06 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows:

In claim 15, it was added that each cutting plate had a first free end and a second free end. It appears from figure two that most plates have no free end at all, and that two plates have one free end each.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

2. Claims 15 and 18-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 15, the new recitation that the cutting plates have first and second free ends is confusing. It is not understood how these plates can "share a common endpoint" and also have two free ends. For this reason it is not clear what would or would not infringe upon this claim.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 15 and 18-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dufner '991, who shows a cutter with all of the recited limitations including a series of zig-zag arranged plates. Each straight section constitutes a single plate with an approximately rectangular cross-section and diagonal cutting edge that is axially symmetrical. In particular, look at the top row of cutting edges in figure 4. Dufner's cutter is capable of cutting belts.

5. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Dufner's blade is bent, as opposed to being formed of individual plates. However, in this case, the manner in which the blade is made does not necessarily result in any structural difference, and therefor does not distinguish over Dufner.

Applicant argues that Dufner's cutting plates do not have first and second free ends. Strangely, neither do Applicant's, so the point of this argument is unclear. It appears to Examiner that the sum of all of Applicant's cutting plates has two free ends, but that each plate individually has either zero or just one free end. Likewise, Dufner's blade has at least two free ends, with some plates individually having zero or one free end.

Applicant's argument for claims 18 and 19 that Dufner's cutting edges lack asymmetrical cutting edge surfaces is particularly unconvincing. See figures 4 and 6.

Applicant's argument for claim 22 that Dufner's cutting plates do not have a specific opening angle to each other is also quite unconvincing. See figures 4 and 6.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
